Self-Assessment Activity

Name: (Win) Thanawin Pattanaphol

Student ID: 01324096

Evaluation

60 / 100

Explanation

I am not exceptionally satisfied with my ability to proactively work on individual classwork as the work ended up to be submitted at last minute and I am also not satisfied with my inaction at the beginning of the URD project as the project was in no progress for around 2 weeks at the beginning of the semester, this caused a significant delay in team planning, workloads and inefficient management, but, after a period of time and as it was approaching to the end of the semester, I made the decision to act on the project and to manage on the progress of the project and enabled the project to be able to be presented in front of a live audience on the Undergraduate R&D Project Presentation Day. In the end, I have learned a valuable lesson of time management and proactiveness and I am working to improve this skill in the next semester.
