Explanation

I am moderately satisfied with my ability to work professionally in various settings, such as, the URD project, individual work, communication between members of the group or faculties and meeting expected targets when set such as tasks given by the advisory professor on the group project. However, there are several aspects that I was not satisfied with during the past semester, such as, the inefficient method of time management which led me to submitting some of my work close to or on the last day of the deadline. Nonetheless, I am aiming for the next semester to not repeat my mistakes that had happened during the first semester and to have a better experience in studying in the second semester.
